Dressed in Show

Fashion and film industry magnates gathered in New York on February 18 for a screening of the ninth installation of Miu Miu's ongoing short-film series Women's Tales, which challenges and celebrates femininity. Italian filmmaker Alice Rohrwacher's De Djess, the most recent addition, is set in an enigmatic world where the characters speak a fictional language Rohrwacher invented for the script, and the star of the show is an ivory bead-embellished Miu Miu gown from the spring/summer 2015 collection. "I felt it was right to give the lead role to a dress, and put myself inside," said the filmmaker of her decision to use costume as character device. The fantastical elements of the 15-minute short were mirrored by the decor at the River Club on East 52nd, where furniture was draped in white sheets and the dress, designed by Miuccia Prada, was suspended in the stairwell.
